Weather / When To Go

Weather

December - April:

- Mostly dry with some Nortes (high winds).
- Prices for attractions are more expensive and crowds are larger.
- Tourism slows in April and can be an excellent month to visit. However, sargassum blooms can sometimes still be a problem as early as April.

July - August:

- Very hot & humid.
- Area sees more vacationing Mexicans because its cooler along the Riviera Maya than inland Mexico.
- Heavy sargassum on beaches in July and usually August.
- Hurricanes can happen in July and August.

May - June & September - November:

- September November are cooler weather.
- Hurricane season officially starts in June, but severe hurricanes are most common in late summer.
- Hurricane season officially ends in December.
- Prices for attractions are cheaper and crowds are smaller.
- June can be bad for sargassum on beaches.
- October & November are great months to visit for lower prices, smaller crowds and favourable weather.
- September and October are good months to witness turtle hatching.

weather network, tulum
 weather bug, tulum
 wind conditions
sargassum monitoring